Strategy and Strategic Planning

Our highly trained, specialized, executive business strategists work with organizations to develop new programs and identify clearer paths forward for growth and process alignment.

Let SD Solutions bring a fresh perspective to your organization.

- C-Level executive advisory and consulting from seasoned professionals
- Strategic planning with goal-oriented outcomes
- Development, implementation of key performance metrics

SD Solutions has a proven track record of successful engagements with the offices of the CIO, CTO, CISO, and other leadership stakeholders. We've helped countless leaders execute strategies and accomplish their organizational goals and objectives.

IT and Organizational Governance

• Government and commercial organizations are under constant pressure to limit spending while pursuing strategic initiatives and improving core services and operations. In government agencies, leaders must manage their organizations for greater accountability, transparency, and spending effectiveness.

• Business executives must find ways to reduce costs while mitigating risk and innovating to keep pace with rapidly evolving technology and regulations.

• Our consulting services help clients address this two-pronged headache. We work with our clients to support their strategic transformation agendas and build programs in alignment with organizational goals and missions. With our expertise, streamlining business processes, reducing fraud, waste, and abuse, and improving productivity become important enablers for accomplishing mission and business objectives.

Program Management

SD Solutions Program Managers implement best-practice methodologies and establish consistent processes that are both effective and repeatable. Strong project management helps facilitate communication and cooperation among intra-organizational and cross-organizational teams.

U.S. Department of Transportation, Agile Transformation

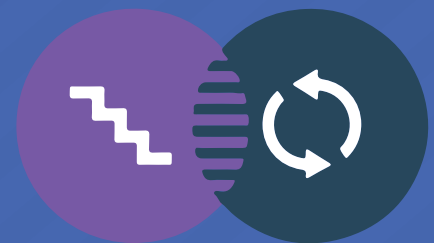

SD Solutions helped the U.S. Department of Transportation transform their Office of Information and Technology Services (OITS) development operations from traditional waterfall methodology to the more modern Agile method. The results were significant.

The DOT hoped to accomplish several key goals with the transformation:

- Provide efficient and transparent business and IT processes
- Support organizational change initiatives
- Synchronize development and operational support activities
- Improve collaboration and information sharing
- Enhance user experience and innovation and deliver cost-effective solutions

SD Solutions' Agile coach and support staff provided:

- Comprehensive Agile transformation roadmap
- Transition plan from waterfall software development to Agile
- Coaching, training, and expert advice on Agile best practices
- Design of a phased, tailored Agile transformation based on people, processes, and technology

Acquisition Support

Our specialists provide end-to-end acquisition support to U.S. federal agencies and assist in large procurements by developing an acquisition strategy, plans, timelines, and an SOO/SOW/market research/analysis of alternatives. We assist with source selection support, training, modular contracting, industry standards, and best practices. Our team consists of seasoned experts and DAWIA-certified professionals and we help clients with cradle-to-grave procurement support tasks in modular contracting principles and FAR best practices.

Professional Services

In today's global economy, organizations are more complex and nuanced than ever. When you find your organization in need of services and expertise outside of the routine, SD Solutions can help with specialized professional services.

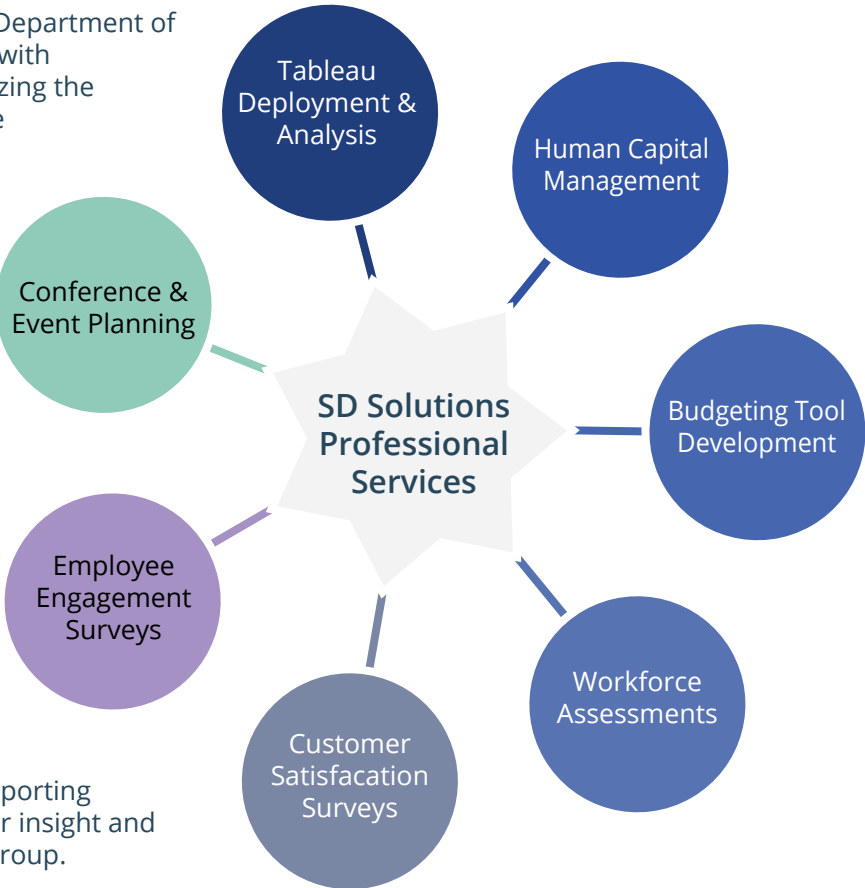

Trust our team to provide your organization with highly-trained, technically skilled, and accomplished leaders with exceptional business acumen in a variety of fields.

- In a recent engagement at the U.S. Department of Agriculture, SD Solutions was tasked with developing, implementing, and analyzing the results of a comprehensive employee satisfaction survey designed to gauge the effects of an enterprise reorganization. USDA leadership found the results so striking that SD Solutions was asked to perform follow-up work to better understand the reorg's impact and develop strategies for mitigation.

- Our team at the IRS has been working closely with the Submission Processing Front Office to stand up a more robust program office. We are engaged with the leadership team to deploy a Tableau installation with data analytics and reporting capabilities, which will provide greater insight and decision-making capabilities for the group.
